Speedball.

DRAWING & LETTERING

A century of fine pen-making began in 1899, when the C. Howard Hunt Pen Company began manufacturing and distributing steel pens. In those days, drawing and lettering was laborious and time consuming due to the only available tools—small brushes and fine pens. Looking for a method to improve the speed of this work, Speedball® joined forces with master letterers Ross F. George and William Hugh Gordon in 1913 to contrive and perfect a nib with a reservoir. It was nicknamed “Speedball” because of the efficiency of the pen, which cut working time in half.

Since that time, the Speedball name has become synonymous with high-quality lettering pens. From calligraphy and drawing, to poster-making and ornamental designs, Speedball continues to provide artists and crafters with limitless creative potential in the form of acid-free inks and smooth-flowing nibs, for both the classroom and the professional studio.

Art is not what you see, but what you make others see.
