Speedball® GEL PLATES

Different from other Gel Plates on the market, Speedball Gel Plates are formulated for use with printmaking inks, not acrylic paint. Plus, they're less bulky than competitive options and this thinner profile is ideal for travel or classrooms. In addition, Speedball is the only manufacturer able to offer all of what you'll need to make works of art using this fun and spontaneous process.

Gel Printing uses a gelatin plate to print on fabric or paper. The process is easy, as the ink is applied to the gel surface and rolled out with a brayer, then a variety of stencils and other textural objects are placed on the plate, then printed. This is a type of monotype printmaking.

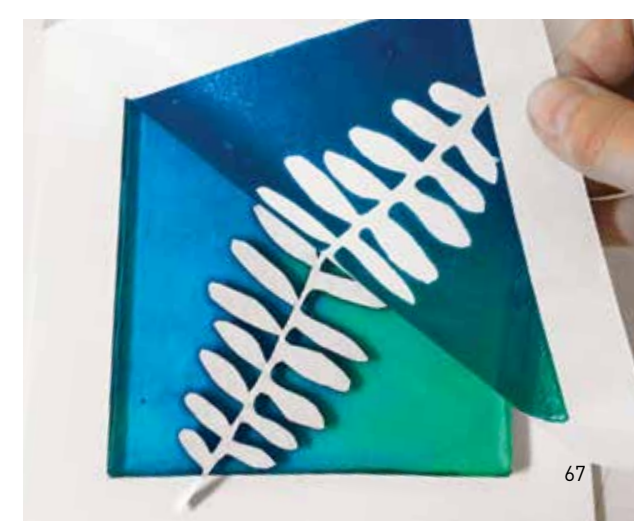

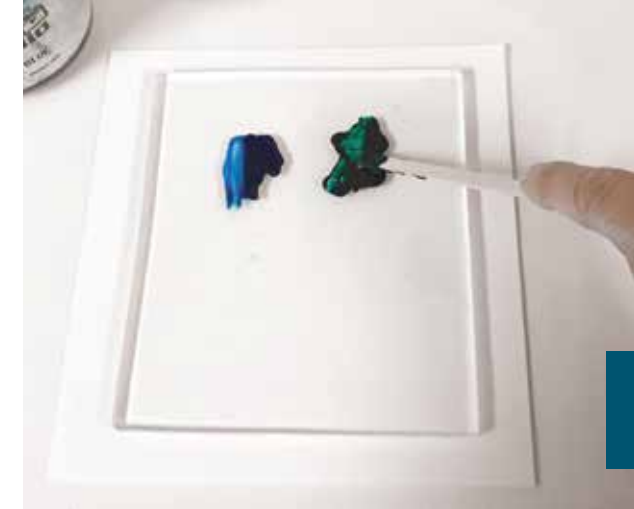

The easy process of this type of printing attracts hobbyists and pros alike as the prints can be as simple or, through building textures, as complex as the artist likes.

MEET THE ARTIST Amy Nack

"Speedball Gel Plates are the perfect tool for easily and spontaneously creating wonderful impressions and gorgeous decorative papers using Akua Intaglio Inks, Arnhem 1618, Speedball Bristol and Speedball Mulberry Papers. I take mine with me when I travel so I can capture prints of local plant life and souvenirs."

GEL PRINTMAKING PRINTMAKING PLATES

Made from clear gelatin, Gel Printmaking Plates are perfect for monoprinting. Making it easy for hobbyists and fine artists alike to create beautiful one-of-a-kind prints for mixed media, card-making, journaling, scrapbooking, home décor projects and much more! Use with any water- or oil-based printmaking inks.

Individual plates are housed in a durable clamshell packaging that can be re-used to keep plates safe from scuffing, marring and particulates when not in use.

Gel Printmaking Plates come in (4) sizes, in 10-plate bulk packs. Cleans easily with soap and water.
